Poor showing on climate report

ENVIRONMENT A report by a top advisory panel ranks Canada near the bottom of G8 countries when it comes to climate change and the economy, but Environment Minister Jim Prentice is dismissing the results.

The National Round Table on the Environment and the Economy places Canada sixth among G8 nations in its new low-carbon performance index. However, Prentice says the rankings are flawed.

Girls, father mourned

Community joins distraught mother and son in grief

andreas.morse@metronews.ca

Tears mixed with raindrops Thursday afternoon at Winterburn School as staff, students and the Baxter family held a celebration of life for two young girls and their father who were killed on a train crossing May 4.

About 400 students, staff, family members and Edmonton Oilers took part in the ceremony, which included speeches, a memorial tree planting and dedication, and the release of butterflies into the schoolyard.

"I don't know if I'll ever recover from this," said Alana Baxter, mother of Julianne and Coral and wife of John.

"Maybe I will the day I die and I'm reunited with them."

Grade 4 students Sabrina Garden, left, and Alexandra Giroux mourn their fallen schoolmates at a celebration of life ceremony Thursday at Winterburn School.

Baxter said she's overwhelmed by the compassion people have shown through this trying time and plans on visiting the schoolyard whenever she wants to be with her family.

"It's just so touching and comforting to know that if I miss my children and my husband I can come and sit on this bench and look at these trees and just feel them," she said.

"I felt them here with me today."

Winterburn principal Shane Dzivinski said setting up an area in the schoolyard for students to remember their friends and classmates is an important part of the school community's healing process.

"It was very important to have the opportunity for closure for the school community," Dzivinski said. "But also the opportunity to say that we aren't forgetting, that we are creating an area for remembrance that they will always be part of us."

Baxter said she's grateful that her son John Jr. is still here to help her through the tragedy.

"Right now I have my son and maybe through him I can learn to love life again," she said.

Wolf pic has officials howling at photo contest

COMPETITION A photo of a leaping wolf had competition officials screaming "cheetah!" for the 2009 competition for wildlife photographer of the year.

The Royal Alberta Museum hosted the Canadian premiere of the various category winners of the competition for the fourth time. The competition is perennially held at the Natural History Museum in London and organized by BBC Wildlife Magazine, and is in its 43rd year.

are 60 of the top entries chosen from more than 43,000 submissions worldwide, but only the finalists' entries are available for viewing, as the individual who won wildlife photographer of the year has been stripped of his prize and title for staging a photo with a rare tame wolf.

"The award winner, it turns out that he contravened the rules," said Todd Crawshaw, communications co-ordinator at the Royal Alberta Museum. "So they haven't found a replacement, but there are a number of different categories and the main shots we're running with are ba-

Aboriginal film fest, arts expo team up

JEFF CUMMINGS
for Metro Edmonton

Organizers behind Alberta's biggest aboriginal film festival say the Edmonton event will be offering up more than just films this year.

Helen Calahasen, an executive director with the Dreamspeakers Film Festival, says it's partnering up with Alberta Aboriginal Arts for this year's festival in Edmonton June 2 through June 5. The move will mean moviegoers at the festival can also enjoy a variety of live plays at its Rubaboo Arts Festival.

"This will bring in a whole new crowd and a whole new aspect to the film festival," said Calahasen during the Dreamspeakers Film Festival media launch Thursday.

Christine Sokaymoh Frederick, a co-director for Rubaboo, says partnering up with the Dreamspeakers festival will raise the profile of the second annual event.

"Our goal is to promote the aboriginal artists, and that's why we are combining our festivals," said Sokaymoh Frederick.

"Combining the festivals puts in a higher emphasis on the variety of arts that are being done in Canada and in Alberta."

The Dreamspeakers festival will offer up close to 30 national and international films to be played in the Metro Cinema and Stanley Milner Library. The Rubaboo Arts Festival will offer up performances at the Yellowhead Brewery.

Container of donations bound for Africa located

andreas.morse@metronews.ca

THEFT All's well that ends well after a Good Samaritan found a stolen container full of charitable donations destined for Africa and reported it to police Wednesday.

"This is a godsend," said Dr. Chukwuemeka Obiajunwa, executive director of Africa We Care, a charitable organization that had its loaded container stolen sometime between last Sunday evening and early Monday morning.

"These people are helpless and hopeless. Life every day is a struggle for existence minute by minute. Having these things restores some dignity."

The container, full of 28,000 kilograms of used clothes, shoes and computers, was ready to be shipped away to Kenya on Sunday. Obiajunwa himself loaded the last bag into the container before padlocking it shut. The next morning, it was gone.

"I'm so happy and I'm so grateful for the police department," Obiajunwa said.

Local truck driver George Catling was the Good Samaritan responsible for calling police on Wednesday.

Catling first noticed the abandoned container parked on the road near his work on 131 Avenue and 146 Street. It wasn't until Catling saw a news report on Wednesday that he realized the container he'd seen could be the stolen container.

"Trailers aren't supposed to be dumped on the side of the road, but I thought somebody left it there and they would be back," Catling said. "I'm very happy that it was recovered and all the stuff is intact and now it can get to where it's supposed to go."

Youth, 17, charged in fatal stabbing

CRIME Police have charged a 17-year-old youth with second-degree murder after a restaurant owner was killed in the city's north end Tuesday.

Mohammed Bashir Kahn was found laying by police near his All Hours Steak, Pizza and Donair restaurant on 129 Avenue and 119 Street. Kahn later died in hospital.

A medical examiner ruled that Kahn — who leaves behind a wife, five children and five grandchildren — died as a result of a stabbing, police said.

Police say the youth was charged late Wednesday night. The teen also faces robbery and weapons charges in relation to the city's sixth homicide of the year.

Suspect sought

• Police, meanwhile, are still looking for a suspect after Daniel Louis Thomas, 25, was found dead in the river valley near the Hotel MacDonald Monday. The case is Edmonton's fifth homicide of the year.

• The suspect is described as a slim aboriginal male between the ages of 14 and 20 who has a thin moustache and short dark hair.

As well, the youth faces two other unrelated robbery charges, police said.

Family members say Kahn immigrated from Pakistan 30 years ago and his immediate family is considering selling his business.

Boost for affordable housing

19 Alberta projects get funds, including 4 in Edmonton

ELISE BARTA
for Metro Edmonton

As part of Canada's economic action plan, joint funding has allowed the government to unveil 19 new affordable housing projects across the province Thursday.

The announcement of these new developments was made on the site between 109 Street and 108 Street on Jasper Avenue, where Mayfair Village South is set to be built.

Mayfair Village is one of four housing projects for Edmonton, and will be a 15-storey high-rise consisting of 237 units of affordable apartment housing.

"This is what's called a transit-oriented development," said Jonathan Denis, minister of Alberta housing and urban affairs. "And obviously there is a lot of access to transit. We recognize that people who may be in need of affordable housing may not have access to vehicles, so we wanted to provide some choice.

An artist rendering of how the Mayfair Village will look once it is completed in 2011. All 237 units of this building will be affordable housing units.

"At the same time, this is important for the downtown because some people require immediate access to downtown.

"It gets expensive here, so for the average person to afford it after coming out of university or if they are moving here from another province, we want to make sure that they have access to the Alberta economy."

This project is part of the goal to create 11,000 affordable housing units by 2012. Including this project, Alberta has 8,700 units that are being constructed or are fully constructed.

The Mayfair Village is scheduled to be completed in the fall of 2011.

RCMP seek help to locate man wanted on 9 warrants

CRIME Red Deer RCMP are asking for the public's help in locating 26-year-old Russell Ens.

There are nine outstanding warrants for his arrest in connection to crimes committed in and around Red Deer in 2005 and 2009, and a number of outstanding provincial violation convictions.

Some of Ens' charges include: Trafficking, possession, unauthorized possession of a weapon, possession of stolen property, failure to attend court and fighting in public.

Ens' unpaid convictions total $12,000.

He is described as a Caucasian male, five feet 10 inches and 155 pounds with brown hair and brown eyes.

8 a.m. happy hour?

Some bars want to open early for World Cup

JEFF CUMMINGS
for Metro Edmonton

Some Edmonton bar owners are asking for a one-time relaxation on liquor laws during this year's World Cup so they can serve booze as early as 8 a.m.

Patrick Devaney, who owns a number of city pubs that includes the Rose & Crown Pub downtown and the Sherlock Holmes Pubs, says it's a good idea since fans can only watch some of the games around that time.

The massive soccer event is in South Africa, an eight-hour time difference with Edmonton.

"It's the most watched sporting event in the world," said Devaney.

"When a game is on at eight in the morning, people from the towers (downtown) will pop in just to see the score, but they wouldn't necessarily have a beer."

Devaney says a number of bars could also see morning crowds on weekends because of the World Cup.

About 715 million people watched Italy win the 2006 World Cup.

The Alberta Gaming and Liquor Commission says bars can make the request to open up early and each request will be handled on a case-by-case basis.

Once permission is granted, an AGLC spokeswoman says each bar must offer up a full service menu and liquor sales before 8 a.m. would be prohibited.

The commission says it has received seven applications, but has only approved three bars to open early in Calgary and one in Cochrane.

The World Cup begins on June 11.

Brush fire likely caused by ATV, investigators say

OPAL An investigation has determined that an all-terrain vehicle probably caused a brush fire that destroyed a home and forced an evacuation order.

A county official says he's disappointed that the ATV driver wasn't careful when riding in the area May 12, the day the fire started.

"I'm very disappointed that people ignored the dry weather condition and caused a major wildfire that resulted in the loss of a family's home and other properties, forced many people to evacuate and cost millions of dollars to control and extinguish," Thorhild County Reeve Charles Newell said Thursday.

He warned that the fire

"I'm very disappointed that people ignored the dry weather conditions and caused a major wildfire ... People need to think about the tremendous damage a quad or a fire can do this long weekend."

hazard was still considerable despite cooler, wet conditions.

"Even though there have been some light rain showers in the past day, our region is still very dry," he said.

"People need to think about the tremendous damage a quad or a fire can do this long weekend."

The blaze near Opal was being held for a second day Thursday.

That meant the flames hadn't jumped a guard built by crews around the perimeter of the 30-square-kilometre fire.

There were still about 210 firefighters on the scene and more crews were expected.

All residents forced to flee their homes at one time or another since the stubborn blaze ignited have been allowed to return.

10 arrested in construction theft sting

CRIME City police say a sting that focused on a number of residential construction thefts in the city's southeast has resulted in 10 people being arrested.

Police say the suspects face over 70 criminal charges after roughly $70,000 in tools and machinery were stolen from a number of construction lots in Tamarack and Laurel.

"This could be a case where we arrested the people responsible for the bulk of the occurrences, or it could be a case where some suspects were forced out of the area after word got out that police were watching," said Southeast Division Supt. Ed McFarlane in a release.

The Harper government appears to be on safe ground in its desire to allow more foreign competition in the telecommunications sector.

A Harris-Decima online survey of 1,003 Canadians found that where once many feared foreign ownership of the country's key industries, now a majority supports it.

In a survey taken in late April, 63 per cent of respondents supported more global investment in domestic telecommunications. Only 30 per cent said

Flashback Sports tycoon punted to Senate

In 2006, David Braley was just a high-powered businessman — seen here shaking hands with quarterback Dave Dickenson in Vancouver. But now Prime Minister Stephen Harper has appointed B.C. Lions owner Braley — the single biggest donor in his 2004 Conservative party leadership campaign — to a $132,000-a-year Senate seat. Sports tycoon Braley also owns the Toronto Argonauts and is known for his many philanthropic contributions.

Election ruling backfires on Conservatives

EXPENSES A court ruling initially hailed by the Tories contains a bitter pill.

Last January, a Federal Court judge rejected Elections Canada's claim that Tory candidate advertising expenses during the 2006 federal election should have been reported as national campaign expenses.

The Tories have now launched an appeal, hoping to strike down part of the ruling that means up to 10 Tory candidates exceeded spending limits.

If the ruling stands, three ministers could be convicted — and barred from seeking re-election or even sitting in the Commons. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Guergis: 'I simply forgot'

Turfed minister fined $100 for mortgage 'oversight'

Former junior cabinet minister Helena Guergis has been fined by the federal ethics commissioner for failing to report an $800,000 mortgage liability.

Commissioner Mary Dawson filed notice of a $100 penalty against Guergis Thursday.

Guergis had publicly disclosed the mortgage in April, after news reports detailed the purchase of the home with her husband, Rahim Jaffer.

But the Conflict of Interest Act requires MPs to report such new liabilities within 30 days — she bought the home in November 2009.

"I simply forgot and I accept responsibility for this oversight," she said.

"I have already made arrangements to pay the fine — within the 30 days I was provided to do so."

Other office holders, including Defence Minister

"I have already made arrangements to pay the fine."

Helena Guergis

Peter MacKay and Prime Minister Stephen Harper's former director of communications Sandra Buckler, have faced similar fines.

Guergis underlined that the commissioner had decided that she would not launch any review into the mortgage itself, which was also the subject of speculation she had secured it with no money down.

Guergis refuted that, saying she had put about 30 per cent down on the house.

Guergis was turfed from the Tory caucus in April by Prime Minister Stephen Harper, who called in the RCMP to investigate unspecified allegations.

Feds to be dragged into tobacco cases?

SMOKING The Supreme Court of Canada will consider whether the federal government should be named a defendant and dragged into massive court cases aiming to force tobacco companies to pay for health-care costs.

It's another victory for British Columbia and other provinces that have spent years mounting the lawsuit, said Rob Cunningham, a senior policy analyst with the Canadian Cancer Society.

"It has been going on for a long time, but we're getting closer," he said Thursday after the high court granted the federal government leave to appeal two B.C. decisions.

Ontario, Newfoundland

"We're getting closer."

Rob Cunningham, Canadian Cancer Society and Labrador, Nova Scotia, Manitoba, New Brunswick and Saskatchewan have passed, or are passing, legislation that will pave the way for lawsuits meant to recoup costs.

Two years ago, the tobacco firms petitioned the B.C. Supreme Court to add Ottawa as a third-party defendant.

The B.C. Supreme Court rejected their argument, but the B.C. Appeal Court overturned that ruling.

Campbell may be subpoenaed over diamond

Prosecutors trying former Liberian president Charles Taylor for war crimes at a UN-backed court asked judges Thursday to subpoena supermodel Naomi Campbell to testify about being given uncut diamonds by him. Taylor denies prosecutors' allegations that he provided arms and ammunition to brutal rebels during Sierra Leone's civil war in exchange for so-called blood diamonds.

Flood waters recede in Poland

WARSAW Massive flooding that has killed seven people in the south of Poland started to recede Thursday but Warsaw braced for trouble as the swollen Vistula River pushed that way and fresh rain fell. Heavy rains have flooded homes and fields in parts of southern Poland since last weekend. Emergency workers have rescued people and pets from roofs and balconies. Warsaw was bracing for possible flooding as the Vistula was expected to rise quickly.

BP admits spill worse than first thought

GULF OF MEXICO BP conceded Thursday that more oil than it estimated is gushing into the Gulf of Mexico as heavy crude washed into Louisiana's wetlands for the first time, feeding worries and uncertainty about the massive monthlong spill.

Mark Proegler, a spokesman for oil giant BP PLC, told The Associated Press that a mile-long tube inserted into a leaking pipe over the weekend is capturing 210,000 gallons a day —

Scientists make cell from artificial DNA

In revolutionary research that may end up altering our definition of life, scientists have created the first synthetic cell powered by artificially created DNA.

The achievement caps 15 years of work by a large team of researchers, led by Craig Venter of Human Genome Project fame, who engineered a chromosome and inserted it into a bacterium to create a new living entity.

"This is the first self-replicating species that we've had on the planet whose parent is a computer," Venter told a teleconference presented Thursday by the journal Science, which published the work.

The cell, which contains more than a million DNA base pairs, or genetic letters — a mere speck compared with the six billion in human DNA — was created by writing genetic code on a computer, then combining a cocktail of chemicals to create a chromosome.

"We start with four bottles of chemicals and the digital code in the computer from DNA sequence," said Venter. "This is an important step we think both scientifically and philosophically."

"It certainly changed my views of the definitions of life and how life works."

Geneticist Stephen Scherer, a senior scientist at Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children, called the research an "impressive technical feat."

Experts warn of long-term strife in Thailand

BANGKOK As soldiers mopped up pockets of resistance and the government declared it was back in control, fears grew Thursday that the tentative quiet restored to Bangkok after a bloody crackdown on protests may just be a respite from violence and political polarization that could continue for years.

Leaders of the anti-government Red Shirt movement vowed a return as they were taken into custody. "I think this is a new beginning for the Red Shirts," said Kevin Hewison, a Thailand expert at the University of North Carolina. "It will be a darker and grimmer time of struggle and less-focused activities. By no stretch of the imagination is the movement finished." The Thai government declared Thursday it had mostly quelled 10 weeks of violent protests in the capital as buildings smouldered, troops rooted out die-hard holdouts.

Some residents cautiously attempted a return to normal life a day after a military operation cleared the main commercial district of thousands of demonstrators, leaving 15 dead and nearly 100 injured.

Swinger sentenced to prison in China

A college professor accused of organizing a swingers club and holding private orgies in China was sentenced to 3 1/2 years in prison, officials said, in a case that touched off national debate about sexual freedom.

Ma Yaohai, 53, was convicted and sentenced on charges of group licentiousness for participating in group sex parties, said an official from the Qinhuai District Court in southeastern Nanjing.

The official, who declined to give his name, refused to answer further questions.

Ma, along with 21 other people, was arrested and charged last year — the first time anyone has been charged under a 1997 law in a case that has snagged huge public interest with its titillating details. It also generated debate about sexual freedom in a nation trying to reshape its own modern morality.

Ma's attorney said his client, who was the only one to plead innocent, plans to appeal the verdict.

"It's definitely not a fair case. It's not based on the law ... We can understand the reason behind it, but we can't accept it," he said.

Three of the other defendants were acquitted with no penalties because they turned themselves in, the official Xinhua News Agency reported, while the remaining 18 received jail sentences up to 2 1/2 years.

Girl in 'sexting' case sues school board

PENNSYLVANIA A school district that was at the centre of a highly publicized "sexting" case was sued Thursday by a teenager who claims her principal confiscated her cellphone, found nude images she had taken of herself and turned it over to prosecutors.

The principal of the Tunkhannock Area High School illegally searched the 17-year-old's phone in January 2009, even though she intended the racy photos to be "seen only herself and, perhaps, her long-time boyfriend," according to the federal lawsuit.

It says the principal gave the phone to George Skumanick Jr., at the time the Wyoming County district attorney, who threatened to file felony child pornography charges against the girl unless she took a class on sexual violence.

The district was at the centre of America's first criminal case involving sexting.

'Dead' woman turns up alive in Croatia

MYSTERY A month ago, a mother and father identified a body in a morgue as their daughter's. She was buried and mourned — only to be found alive this week.

Tea Buric, 39, was located when police showed up at an apartment in the southern city of Split because of domestic violence.

Buric was disoriented and lacked documents of identification, so police checked her fingerprints and discovered she had been identified by her family as dead.

The body found floating in the Split harbour on April 15 turned out to be that of a 44-year-old woman who had disappeared earlier that month, Split police said.

Police spokeswoman Marina Kraljevic-Gudelj said in an interview on Thursday that police didn't use DNA to identify the well-preserved corpse because four relatives, including the parents, had identified it.

Local experts also said the DNA procedure, considered expensive in Croatia, is generally only used if a corpse cannot be identified or appears to have been the victim of a crime.

News in brief

RED CROSS Haiti is still struggling to provide homes, sanitation and basic health care to hundreds of thousands affected by the earthquake four months ago, the country's top Red Cross official said Thursday. The Red Cross movement has received $800 million in funds and material contributions for Haiti, where it expects to be providing emergency aid for an unprecedented 12 months. In most disasters the emergency period is set at between three and six months. The Caribbean nation was ill-prepared for the devastating temblor that hit the island Jan. 12, killing up to 300,000 people and leaving many more wounded and homeless, the president of the Haitian Red Cross Society said.

Shinoyama said in a statement Thursday the models took off their clothes only briefly, "seconds or up to two minutes at the longest."

He was concerned about the definition of public indecency, which could discourage artistic expression, he said.

But he added, "I humbly accept the case as a lesson, and I will pursue my challenges to new forms of expression."

Singing the praises of city services

UrbanCompass

Terence Harding

metronews.ca/harding

I'm not an overly grumpy guy, though you might not know from reading these columns. Unfortunately, there are a number of things about this city that get in the way of our pursuit of happiness. There are, however, some things that aid us in that quest. One of them is EPCOR.

We judge companies like EPCOR not by what they say they are going to do, but by what they actually do. I was reminded of that last week when I returned home to find a flood in front of my house. A water main had broken an hour earlier and an EPCOR crew was on scene fixing the problem. When I asked if I was going to be able to take a shower in the morning, I was told that was unlikely. I could understand that. Digging up a road and joining two pieces of pipe isn't a walk in the park. Imagine my surprise and pleasure when in the morning I realized water had been restored before the crew had to stop work at 11 p.m. Like all great companies EPCOR underpromised and over-delivered.

On another note entirely, how about those singing recycling bins? They show some creativity and whimsy on the city's part and they're not costing a lot of money. However, they do lead me to ask a couple questions.

Since we cannot tell where recyclable materials actually come from, how are we to know that these things will actually get people to modify their behaviour? Surely we're not going to check to see. And if you think awareness equals compliance, ask yourself how many speeders are unaware of the speed limit.

My second question is why didn't the wizards of waste management ramp up their communications? Getting ink in the local newspapers and air time on television doesn't quite have the impact on public awareness it once did.

What organizations want now is to post a video on YouTube and have it go viral. I think a quick clip of someone opening the lid of a recycling bin and being serenaded has the potential to do just that. It's the kind of thing that gets played around the world and shows up on global newscasts. For a mere $160,000 we could have bought ourselves a whole lot of publicity and shown the world how creative and cool we are.

Worth mentioning

'Newton' given cosmic view of Earth

Sir Isaac Newton is getting the royal treatment in space, thanks to the British-born astronaut who carried up a picture of the 17th-century scientist and a chip from his famous apple tree.

Atlantis astronaut Piers Sellers said Thursday that he placed Newton's picture in the glassed-in dome of the International Space Station — the best seat in the gravity-less house. The views of Earth are stupendous from there.

"Sir Isaac absolutely loved it, I've got to tell you," Sellers said in an interview with The Associated Press. "We had him in the window, and he got to watch his little wood chip float by and ponder the laws of gravitation and everything, so I think it was a treat for him."

The Royal Society of London provided Sellers with the 10-centimetre sliver of wood, which he took with him into orbit aboard the shuttle. It's inscribed with Newton's initials and, according to the society, came from the actual tree in England from which an apple fell nearly 350 years ago and inspired Newton to discover the law of gravity.

Sellers said Wednesday's ceremony was a dry run. He plans to videotape the Newton items later this week for the Royal Society, which is the national academy of science of the United Kingdom. It's celebrating its 350th anniversary.

Newton was a physicist, mathematician and astronomer. His brush with the falling apple is believed to have occurred in the mid-1660s.

Sellers, now a U.S. citizen, and the rest of Atlantis' visiting astronauts got some time off Thursday after nearly a week of stressful work in orbit.

The day's big event was the grand opening of the space station's newest room. The Russian compartment, named Rassvet, or Dawn, was installed by the Atlantis crew earlier this week.

This is NASA's last planned flight of Atlantis. The shuttle and its six-man crew are due back on Earth next Wednesday.

Only two shuttle missions remain, by Discovery and Endeavour this fall. Once the fleet is retired, NASA will focus on getting astronauts to an asteroid and Mars by 2025 and 2035, respectively.

We can't escape European crisis

ECONOMY If it's Europe that sneezes, why does Canada still catch a cold?

Canada's economy may be roaring now, but its longer-term prospects are being turned topsy-turvy by a localized credit crisis in Europe, economists say.

The end of month gross domestic product release is widely expected to show Canada enjoying a solid economic resurgence, with the second consecutive

Wild ride

- The loonie has been living up to its name recently, swooping crazily from just above parity with the U.S. greenback to well below. Its latest move was a 2.12-cent retreat yesterday, taking it down to a value of 93.65 cents US.

quarter of five and five-plus percentage growth.

But markets hardly noticed. The attention was squarely fixated on Greece and other European problems Thursday.

The disconnect reminded economists of the Asian financial crisis of a dozen years ago. The loonie caught a downdraft that took it all the way down to the 62-cent level. But analysts don't believe the Greek crisis effect will be as dramatic. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Business in brief

MORTGAGE RATES Canada's largest bank is lowering the rate for its five-year mortgages, the second reduction this month. RBC Royal Bank says the posted rate for five-year mortgages will be reduced by about one-tenth of a percentage point to 5.99 per cent, effective today. That rate started the month at 6.25 per cent, but was lowered by 15 basis points on May 11 along with a range of other rate cuts.

Canadians' debts just keep rising

FINANCE Getting out of debt appears to be more difficult than many Canadian homeowners imagine.

Only seven per cent of 1,000 respondents to a Canadian online survey last month said they had paid down their debt over the past year by more than expected.

Another 19 per cent said they had reduced their debt — but by less than anticipated.

In contrast, 27 per cent of the respondents said their debt had increased over the past year and 17 per cent saw no change.

The survey was conducted April 16 to 23 for Manulife Bank, a subsidiary of Manulife Financial Corp.

The report focused on what could be described as middle-income, middle-aged homeowners — people aged 30 to 55 with at least $50,000 of household income.

Next for Google: TV

New device will also access Internet

Google Inc. believes it has come up with the technology to unite web surfing with channel surfing on televisions.

To reach the long-elusive goal, Google has joined forces with Sony Corp., Intel Corp. and Logitech International. The companies unveiled their much-anticipated plan for a "smart" TV on Thursday.

The TVs are expected to go on sale in the fall. Pricing wasn't immediately announced.

Google wants to turn televisions into giant monitors for web surfing so it can make more money selling ads. The company generated nearly $24 billion US in revenue last year, mostly from Internet ads displayed on computer screens. Although Google began selling ads for regular television programming three years ago, analysts say that has yielded paltry dividends so far.

The demonstration of the new technology didn't go smoothly at a Google conference for about 5,000 software programmers.

So many people in the audience were using the conference's wireless access network that Google ran into repeated problems showing how its technology is supposed to toggle seamlessly between the Web and television programming. Google finally had to plead with the attendees to disconnect their smart phones from the wireless network.

Once it got enough bandwidth, Google was able to conduct a series of Internet searches in a drop-down box that appears at the top of television programs. The search results pointed to Internet videos and other content related to the television program on the screen.

Jamie Gordon, a Corporate Accountability International staff member, dresses as a clown as she collects signatures on a petition in Chicago on Wednesday. The group is urging McDonald's to retire Ronald McDonald.

Time to go, Ronald

Group wants 'dangerous' clown retired

Retire Ronald McDonald? No way.

That's the message McDonald's Corp.'s CEO Jim Skinner gave yesterday to the red-haired clown's critics who say the cartoon promotes unhealthy eating and should go the way of the Marlboro Man and Joe Camel.

"The answer is no," Skinner told a room full of shareholders who gathered for a meeting at the company's headquarters in the Chicago suburb of Oak Brook, Ill.

"He is a force for good," Skinner said, adding that the nearly 50-year-old clown is an ambassador for the McDonald's brand and its Ronald McDonald House Charities.

Shareholders applauded Skinner. And they unleashed a chorus of boos when representatives from the advocacy group Corporate Accountability International requested the famous icon be shelved — for good.

"Ronald McDonald is a pied piper drawing youngsters all over the world to food that is high in fat, sodium and calories," said Alfred David Klinger, a retired Chicago physician who volunteers with the organization. "Ronald McDonald is dangerous, sending insidious messages to young people."

The Boston organization, which calls itself a non-profit corporate watchdog, has spent the past two months mounting a "Retire Ronald" campaign.

New regs can't be stopped: Obama

REGULATIONS President Barack Obama says U.S. financial industry lobbyists have failed in their attempt to block a major Wall Street reform bill from coming to a vote.

Speaking at the White House yesterday, Obama heralded a breakthrough for his domestic agenda as the Senate cleared the way for final passage of the financial regulation bill.

The president said there is more work ahead but that he will ensure the final bill will be effective and responsive.

Obama said lobbyists tried to kill the bill, and then water it down, but those efforts "have failed."

The bill calls for new ways to watch for risks in the financial system and makes it easier to liquidate large financial firms that are failing, among other changes.

It also offers a new consumer protection agency.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gas prices likely to rise slightly

ENERGY Canada's federal energy regulator is predicting slightly higher gasoline prices this summer.

The National Energy Board says retail gas prices should average between 95 cents and $1.10 per litre in Canada.

The main reason is higher crude oil prices, which are forecast to average $75 to $85 US per barrel.

Reduced refinery production, high U.S. demand and higher crude prices are seen as factors that may pull gasoline prices to the higher end of the range.

But uncertainty over the global economic recovery, high inventory levels and government-mandated ethanol blending could dampen prices.

Flyers 1 Canadiens 5

Michael Cammalleri and Tom Pyatt scored in the first period to end Michael Leighton's two-game shutout string as the Montreal Canadiens defeated the Flyers 5-1 in NHL Eastern Conference final action Thursday night.

Montreal's third line shone as Pyatt and Dominic Moore both scored and Maxim Lapierre had an assist, and the Canadiens served notice they won't fade away meekly after series-opening losses of 6-0 and 3-0 in Philadelphia.

Brian Gionta and Marc-Andre Bergeron also scored

as the Canadiens ended the Flyers' six-game winning streak and handed Leighton his first loss in five post-season starts.

Simon Gagne broke Jaroslav Halak's shutout bid in the third period with his seventh goal in as many games since returning from a toe injury. Montreal outshot Philadelphia 38-26.

The Flyers lead the best-of-seven series 2-1 with Game 4 set for Saturday afternoon at the Bell Centre.

Leighton saw his shutout run end when Cammalleri scored his 13th of the playoffs at 7:05 of the first period.

"It was nice to get one," Cammalleri said. "We just tried to get the puck past their defence and go to the net and the puck jumped out to me."

His shutout streak covered 172:55, second-longest in Flyers history behind Brian Boucher's 184:45 in 2000. He had stopped 74 consecutive shots dating to a Milan Lucic goal in the first period of Game 7 of the last round against Boston.

Halak made sharp saves early and then had little work as the Canadiens used their speed to outthrust the dazed-looking Flyers, who committed numerous turnovers and spent much of the game standing around watching.

Happy ending to a broken heart

FieldofPlay

Scott Russell

metronews.ca/fieldofplay

The story was buried in the sports pages. Zac Herold, a 17-year-old professional soccer prospect, forced to end his dream because of a heart condition that threatens his life if he continues to compete.

A doctor with Toronto FC discovered Herold's plight after the native of Port St. Lucie, Fla., reported to training camp as a top draft pick. The diagnosis means a future on the sidelines ... but a future, nonetheless.

Maybe it's a hopeful sign that somewhere out there, someone is watching over athletes and protecting them from the damage sport can do.

Encouraging news like this is rare in times when players are treated as commodities instead of human beings.

Herold's situation is overshadowed by a litany of malpractice that occurs daily in high performance athletics — professional and amateur. The act of enjoying sport has frequently been replaced by a win-at-all-costs mentality.

The sports pages are frequently filled with bad news: We read of a notorious junior hockey coach who repeatedly sexually assaulted his players and ruined their lives.

We are stunned by the beating of a minor soccer parent in Edmonton at the hands of a player from the opposing team. The attack was apparently motivated by racial tensions.

Some of us are conflicted when learning of the death of a talented track and field mentor who advised his runners to take steroids so they wouldn't be left behind. Others are appalled that a Toronto sports doctor prescribed human growth hormone to NFL players.

Many more are concerned that young athletes in various team sports are being pressured to play despite concussions, which have become epidemic.

Herold's career has been cut short, but his situation should enlighten us.

Thank heavens someone is watching over him — a supportive family, a wise physician and a professional club that has things in perspective.

When Toronto FC honours Herold at BMO Field on Saturday, they'll be making a statement.

Sport is not nearly as precious as life.

And sometimes, happy endings can be found in broken hearts.

Gemini Award winner and author Scott Russell is the Host of CBC Sports Weekend seen Saturday afternoons. A 20-year CBC Sports veteran, he has covered a variety of professional and amateur sports including nine Olympic games and numerous world championships.

Russia knocks Canada out of running

HOCKEY A forgettable IIHF World Hockey Championship for Canada ended with a crushing 5-2 quarter-final loss to Russia Thursday.

It's the third straight year Russia ended Canada's gold-medal hopes at the tournament and this loss came a long way from the final. A young Canadian squad dropped four of its final five games and failed to get past the quarter-finals for the first time since 2002.

"You want to win and it's disappointing when you don't," said forward Steven Stamkos. "It's a bitter taste."

The Canadians entered as heavy underdogs to a powerhouse Russian team that featured 14 players who competed at the Vancouver Olympics.

It often takes a vacation to gain a little perspective on everyday problems.

And for Carrie Bradshaw — who high-tails it out of town with her three best friends in Sex and the City 2 for an ultra luxe getaway to Abu Dhabi — the time away is spent reflecting on her recent nuptials to Mr. Big.

"There was a wedding, and now there has to be a marriage," explains Sarah the institution of marriage, do we find ourselves squirming and asking questions? How do we define tradition for ourselves?" wonders the actress aloud.

And then, she adds with a

Though vacations with girlfriends can also mean nasty fights (have you been following The Real Housewives of New York?), Parker says that the bond these characters share, in addition to being the hallmark of the blockbuster, is what she finds most powerful.

"In an era where women are really unkind to one another, and call each other horrible names, and there's vernacular that our ears have adapted to, which I find really objectionable, I really really love how these women love each other. How decent and honorable they are to one another," she says.

Shrek Forever After

Director: Mike Mitchell

Stars: Mike Myers, Cameron Diaz,

Classification: PG

Rating:

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News

Whether that new title is a promise or a simple marketing ploy, the fourth Shrek film at least does a good job of putting a positive punctuation mark on a series that's seen a rapid decline in quality over the course of the previous three instalments.

The latest — and supposedly last — makes a valiant effort of recapturing the tone and spirit of the original Shrek, with more wise-acre takes on fairy tale tropes and fewer obnoxious pop culture references.

Tossing on a loose-fitting It's a Wonderful Life coat, the film picks up with Shrek (Mike Myers), Fiona (Cameron Diaz) and company enjoying their "happily ever after," although the ogre himself isn't so happy, longing for the days where villagers ran from him in fear instead of gawking from tour buses.

He signs a foolish deal with Rumpelstiltskin (voiced by DreamWorks story head Walt Dohrn), a pint-sized power-mad ginger who at one point had the keys to the kingdom in his grasp before Shrek went and ruined his plans by rescuing Fiona.

Shrek is then plunged into a world where Rumpelstiltskin is king, he's still a swamp-dwelling menace and none of his friends know him. The setup and plot are familiar and predictable, but one thing the Rumpelstiltskin has a showdown with everyone's favourite ogre in Shrek Forever After.

Shrek team does well — when they're firing on all cylinders — is make the familiar and predictable fun and exciting nonetheless.

The animation is of course pristine, with some particularly thrilling battle and chase sequences tossed in.

While Shrek frets through his existential crisis, the supporting cast provides some of the best laughs, as usual, with some new voices (Jon Hamm and Jane Lynch as members of the ogre resistance) along with the old. Eddie Murphy's Donkey and Antonio Banderas' Puss in Boots wage a fierce battle over who gets to the steal the show, but Banderas has the obvious edge, what with the Puss in Boots movie in development next.

SNL sketch strikes gold

MacGruber

Director: Jorma Taccone
Stars: Will Forte, Kirsten Wiig, Ryan Phillippe
Classification: 18A
Rating: ●●●●

PHIL BROWN
for Metro Canada

In general Saturday Night Live movies aren't very good.

Sure, there are exceptions like The Blues Brothers, but for the most part the sketch-to-screen adaptations go a little bit more like Coneheads.

It's been a decade since Lorne Michaels last ushered one of his popular sketches into movie theaters and fortunately it's been worth the wait. MacGruber may have started as a 90-second joke, but now it's a fully realized and gleefully offensive spoof/homage of delightfully dumb action movies. There are no grating catchphrases, distracting comedian cameos, or Xeroxed TV gags here. Had the original SNL sketches not existed, MacGruber could stand on its own as a damn entertaining comedy.

If you're not familiar with Will Forte's MacGruber, he's a special agent in the DIY MacGyver mold. Of course, he's not very good and tends to blow things up. In the film he's given a nemesis who is one typo away from being unfit to print, Dieter Von Cunth (Val Kilmer). The movie opens with Cunth stealing a missile and soon MacGruber comes out of retirement to stop him alongside a potential love interest (Kristen Wiig) and a young military hotshot (Ryan Phillippe).

It's a plot you've seen many times before, but exaggerated just enough to be hilarious.

Of course, this isn't just some film school satire. It's also filled with enough potty mouth language, bathroom humor, and filthy sight gags to be a solid R-rated comedy. Sure, it doesn't demand much brainpower, but sometimes dumb laughs are enough.

MacGruber shouldn't have been this good. Hopefully it won't be unfairly dismissed as a lazy SNL re-tread, because it's unlikely that a funnier flick will be released this summer.

Kites brings wild excess of Bollywood

Kites

Director: Anurag Basu
Stars: Hrithik Roshan, Barbara Mori
Classification: STC
Rating: ●●●●

ADAM NAYMAN
for Metro Canada

Kites has been conceived and executed as a hybrid of the world's two largest industrial cinemas, filtering over-amped Bollywood melodrama through glossy Hollywood aesthetics.

And if that's not high-concept enough for you, the epically scaled film has also been "remixed" by producer Brett Ratner into a 90-minute version for the short-attention span crowd.

Certainly, the 130-minute cut of Kites could stand some trimming, but part of the film's charm is bound up in its wild excess.

The opening scenes glide along on the larger-than-life charm of star Hrithik Roshan as Jay, a Hindi hustler waylaid in Las Vegas whose cash-for-marriage scam gets complicated twice over.

Problem No. 1: He falls in love with the gorgeous Spanish girl (Barbara Mori) who is paying him to get a green card; Problem No. 2: When he pursues her, he discovers she's engaged to be married to the son of a local crime boss, whose daughter has her own designs on him.

It's an amusingly humid quadrangle, but eventually, the film settles into a standard chase-movie mode, with Roshan and Mori recast as the post-globalization equivalents of Bonnie and Clyde, fleeing (with the top down) across the dustier parts of the United States.

Band of Horses retreat

BRYAN BORZYKOWSKI
for Metro Canada

If you've ever wondered where Band of Horses' laid back twangy sound comes from, here's your answer — a cottage near Bob Dylan's boyhood home.

Ben Bridwell, the band's lead singer, recorded the group's latest disc, Infinite Arms, near Hibbing, Minn. — less than two hours from the Ontario border. He didn't pick that place to channel Dylan, though, he just wanted to be alone. "I need to know that people can't hear me," he says. "It's embarrassing when I'm screaming my balls off."

That's not the only secluded spot Bridwell has written in — "I've done it in a cabin on a lake, a caboose on an ocean and a cabin in the mountains," he says.

Wherever he writes it seems to be working. The group shot to indie fame in 2007 with the stunning disc Cease To Begin and

After shooting to fame with 2007's album, Cease To Begin, indie act Band of Horses is back with a new release, Infinite Arms.

For the most part, Infinite Arms sounds a lot like past efforts. Bridwell's smooth, high-pitched vocals, rich Beach Boys-ish harmonies and folk pop sensibility permeates much of the disc. The singer says he can't help it if the new record sounds like his older ones.

"I'm limited in my musical ability," he says. "I started this game late, so it's not hard for me to sound like me."

But there are differences. There's more country twang, the rock songs are louder, and each track is more polished. That could have something to do with the band's new players. The group has grown from a trio to a five-piece over the last couple of years. Unlike on Cease To Begin, almost all the band members contributed to this record.

"These guys are bringing stuff to table I wouldn't write," says Bridwell.

It's not just the songwriters that are new, however. For the first time, the band financed and produced this record themselves. Going the DIY route gave the band more freedom. It also allowed them to sell their disc to the highest bidder, which turned out to be Fat Possum records, a subsidiary of major label Sony Music.

Jumping to a major shouldn't come as a surprise — other similar sounding acts like Death Cab For Cutie have made the move too.

"There was really no doubt in my mind," he says. "People have been knocking at the door for a while so I had a good feeling we'd get paid back."

The truth about Bubbles and Toast

SoundCheck

Alan Cross

metronews.ca/soundcheck

Last week I dipped into my mail bag to mark hitting the 100 column milestone for Metro. Well, the questions keep coming.

Q Is it true that Bubbles from the Trailer Park Boys used to be in a band?

A He was in a Pictou, N.S., band called Sandbox, which released a pretty good record called Bionic in 1996. Propelled by a single called Curious, the album won three East Coast Music Awards and was nominated for a Juno before breaking up.

Q What's that spoken word song (done in a Cockney accent) from the '70s about the glories of making toast?

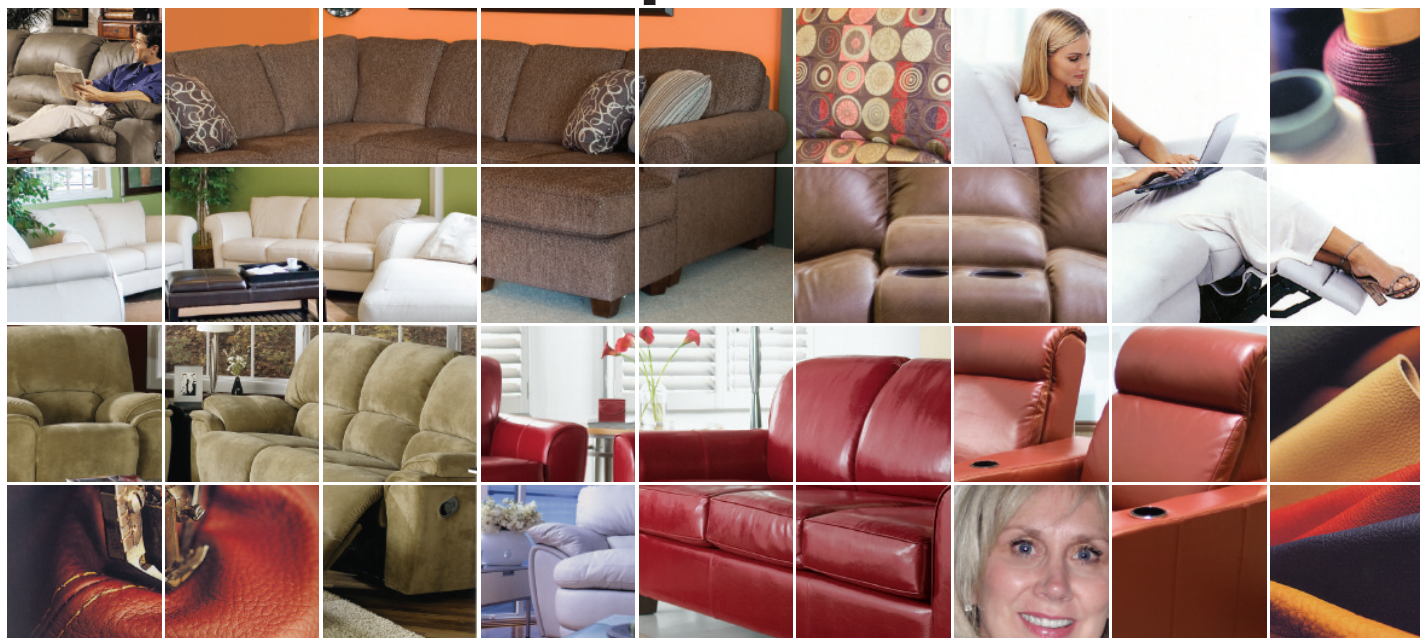

— Owen, Toronto

A In 1978, a group called Street Band recorded a single called Hold On which featured a track called Toast on the B-side. The song had been concocted during a gig where they needed to stretch for time. When the moment came to record a single, the band decided to include it as a joke. However, because Britain was in the midst of a bakers' strike when it came out, several BBC DJs decided that Toast was a better bet than Hold On. Street Band was forever branded a novelty group and soon broke up.

Bachelorette wants to focus on love

Ali Fedotowsky ditched The Bachelor last season for her job.

The smiley former Facebook advertising account manager now has a new gig as The Bachelorette. Fedotowsky is the latest leading lady in a long line of single men and woman — 20, to be exact — selected to sift through a stack of suitors in hopes of finding the perfect match on the interconnected, long-running ABC reality dating franchise. Fedotowsky previously chose her career over his on the fifth edition of The Bachelorette.

In a recent interview, the 25-year-old Clark University graduate reminisced about Pavelka, discussed her most athletic suitors and recalled when a boyfriend cheated on her — while she was sleeping.

Q Why did you want to do The Bachelorette after what happened last season with Jake?

A My decision to choose my job over Jake last season was really hard. I think it worked out for the best because he is now in love and has his relationship, and he's engaged and happy, and I'm happy, and that's really all that matters. This time, I decided I wanted to do what's best for me, and that's putting love first.

Q Have you seen or spoken with Jake since the show? Do you still have feelings for him?

A I haven't seen Jake since the show. I wanted to watch him on Dancing With the Stars, because I heard he's really great. I don't have those kind of feelings. I will always care for him as a friend. He's a great guy and a great person, but I've definitely moved on.

Ali Fedotowsky is no stranger to the Bachelor/Bachelorette reality TV series but this time around she'll be doing the choosing.

Q How do you feel about infidelity? Have you ever had a boyfriend cheat on you?

A I've had a boyfriend cheat on me — in a bad way — while I was sleeping in another room. It was in another room of my house. It's wrong. It's unforgivable. Do I necessarily think once a cheater always a cheater? No, I don't think that, but I think once you've done it once in a relationship, it's very hard to recover in that relationship.

Groff's second chance at Glee

TV MUSICAL According to Jonathan Groff, fans of TV's Glee seem "okay" with his character Jesse St. James, a hated Glee club rival and romantic interloper.

"I haven't been spit on yet," laughs Groff. "And I got to say — I don't see Jesse as a bad guy. I think maybe Rachel (Lea Michele) has found a match in Jesse. But that's just me."

Of course, it helps that Groff's on-screen paramour is also his long time best friend. Groff and Michele worked the Broadway stage together years ago in a production of Spring Awakening.

"It was my first big break. And to be working with my best friend now doesn't seem like work at all."

It wasn't a complete coincidence that they would end up on the same TV show. It was Groff who first introduced Michele to Glee creator Ryan Murphy. And when Murphy first mentioned he was working on a new show called Glee, he already had Groff in mind for a part. Problem was Groff was initially tied up with another series pilot. But when that failed to catch on, Glee beckoned. "A role was written specifically for me for the back nine episodes," says Groff, whose late arrival has given him a unique perspective on the series' rapid, overwhelming success. "I saw Glee explode from my TV at home. Then I got dropped into the hurricane."

So far, Groff counts his duet with Michele on Lionel Richie's Hello as a show favorite. And his toughest musical moment? AC/DC's Highway To Hell.

"I'm a singer before a dancer. Dancing is something that that doesn't ever come easily."

As for Jesse St. James' future on the series, it's up in the air. Though Glee was renewed for another season a long time ago (and was recently awarded the coveted time slot after next year's Super Bowl), Groff isn't sure what his role might be.

"Details for my involvement haven't been worked out yet," he says. "But I'd love to see Rachel and Jesse end up together." Glee airs Tuesdays at 9 p.m. on Global.

Lutz shows off his Calvins

MITZI MILLER
Metro World News

During a New York store appearance, the Twilight actor and Calvin Klein underwear poster boy Kellan Lutz talks vampires and briefs with Metro.

Q Before you began acting, you were a model. What about Calvin Klein Underwear made you want to go back to modeling again?

A I got into modeling when I was in a financial crisis. It was a great way to make money. I never thought I was pretty by any means. But it was great to be a part of that world. And the pinnacle of that world is to be on a billboard. I grew up wearing Calvin Klein. It's one of those things. As a model, I dreamt of being Marky Mark, being on a billboard and selling that company.

Q Speaking of Marky Mark, were you nervous about comparisons when shooting this campaign?

A I was thrilled. I loved Marky-Mark's campaign. And by no means was I trying to fill his britches or, uh, boxer-briefs. I was just stepping into them and doing my best to follow in his footsteps. And that's all I can hope and pray for. I think the audience has really enjoyed the campaign so it's nice to be a part of it.

Q Any surprises in store for the next Twilight movie, Eclipse?

A It's really tough for our characters — the movies are based on the books. So a lot of characters are like — they barely have lines, they're barely in it. But you can't rewrite the books. And I'm just grateful to have a line or a purpose in there. But definitely, Emmett's character and story grow immensely in Eclipse.

Twilight star Kellan Lutz went back to his modelling roots for the new Calvin Klein underwear campaign.

You see the battle between the newborns and you see the werewolves coming along. It's a big fighting movie and that's Emmett's strength. So there's the fighting and the big brother role, which is nice.

Q Since you were already in production, did you really have to prepare physically for this Calvin Klein campaign?

A Well I did. You know Emmett, my character, is more of the big guy. So I don't need the washboard abs, just the size. So I did a lot of push-ups and tons of protein. But for Calvin Klein, it's underwear. So I called up my buddy Rich McDonald who's a personal trainer friend of mine. He put me on a great diet that took out the candy (which I love) and the carbs past 4 o'clock (which I break here and there). And he told me a great thing, which is too drink water as much as you can. Cause when you don't drink water, your body needs to hold on to it to stay hydrated. So I started training with him and he got me into the shape that I need to be for the campaign. I trained for two weeks.

Q So ... boxers or briefs?

A Boxer-briefs! And I love the blue trimmed ones. The blue ones bring out my eyes. (laughs). I didn't come up with that. I was on the street and I bent over to pick up my bag out the car and this girl yelled out, you have the blue ones on and your eyes are blue. And I was like, 'oh yeah, they do bring out my eyes!'

Q Have you seen the line of fans waiting outside for you?

A No, I didn't actually. But I love the fans. You know, we in the Twilight franchise have the best fans. And it's really cool to see them come out to something other than Twilight, you know? Cause then it feels more personal. Then they're Kellan's Fans.

Underwood raises funds for Tennessee flood victims

Temporary Home isn't just Carrie Underwood's latest No. 1 single — it's also the living situation for thousands of Tennessee residents displaced by deadly flooding earlier this month. That's why Underwood is launching the Temporary Home fund along with ACM Lifting Lives to help flood victims. Underwood is using grants she would receive as the reigning Academy of Country Music entertainer of the year for the fund. Lifting Lives is donating money from the ACM Presents: Brooks & Dunn — The Last Rodeo special that airs Sunday on CBS.

3 True Blood Season 2

DVD It will be a fantastical day on Tuesday when the second season of the hit HBO show debuts on DVD. Season Two is currently airing on Space, but that's no reason to avoid buying the box set and skipping ahead to find out the fate of Sookie Stackhouse and the rest of the residents of Bon Temps.

4 Custom-made revenge raps

TECH Got a good-natured gripe? Or just want to show someone you care by delivering an especially snappy zinger? What about a revenge rap? Rap Master Maurice, a.k.a. Derek Erdman of Chicago, is the mastermind behind the movement. The raps, written and rhymed by Erdman, are delivered to a voicemail inbox. The MP3 file is also emailed to the sender. They're like a nastier singing telegram.

5 Stratford, Ont.

TRAVEL Looks like Stratford, Ont., is the place for parents and their kids this summer. ## Entertainment in brief

PEOPLE For all the world-class food and entertainment, deft touches and elegance of the evening, the Obamas' second state dinner was as notable for what didn't happen as what did. As far as anyone could tell, no one crashed the party. And no other major disasters were apparent either. As the evening wore on, the smiles on the faces of White House staff seemed to get more relaxed. And even the president loosened up. "I know we just had a very formal dinner," Obama said as guests reassembled in a tent on the South Lawn. "But we heard that this was the place for the real party."

THIS IS ONE TRIP SHE WISHED SHE HADN'T DROPPED A judge issued a warrant Thursday for Lindsay Lohan's arrest after the actress missed a mandatory hearing. Bail was set at $100,000.

The 23-year-old actress was due in court for a progress report on her probation stemming from two arrests in 2007. Her attorney, Shawn Chapman Holley, said Lohan's passport was stolen while she was at the Cannes Film Festival and was unable to return to Los Angeles in time for Thursday's hearing.

"She did, in fact, have airline tickets," Holley told the judge. "From our standpoint, there is a valid reason for her not being here today."

Holley said Lohan would be back in the United States by Friday evening. Superior Court Judge Marsha Revel wasn't satisfied, saying the star has a history of missing scheduled appointments.

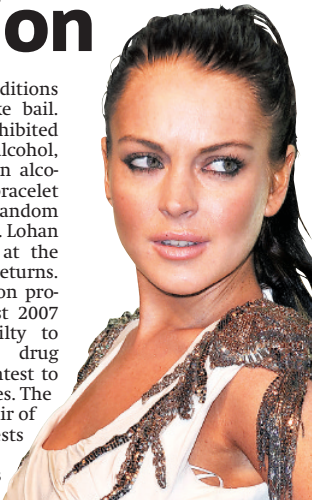

"If she wanted to be here, it looks to the court that she could have been here," Revel said.

The judge revoked Lohan's probation, issued the arrest warrant and imposed several conditions should Lohan make bail. She will be prohibited from drinking any alcohol, required to wear an alcohol-monitoring bracelet and submit to random weekly drug testing. Lohan could be arrested at the airport when she returns.

Lohan has been on probation since August 2007 after pleading guilty to misdemeanor drug charges and no contest to three driving charges. The plea came after a pair of high-profile arrests earlier that year.

 6 tomatoes, cut into wedges

METHOD:

1 Preheat broiler. Put red peppers on broiler pan. Cook until skins are blistered and blackened, 10 minutes, turning frequently. Put in paper bag, seal tightly, and let steam 10 minutes. Peel away blackened skins from peppers, seed, and cut into chunks.

2 Meanwhile, lay filet flat on cutting board and slit lengthwise three-quarters of the way through. Open and press flat. Sprinkle with half the salt and pepper. Halve 1 garlic clove and rub over beef. Broil beef until done to taste, 3 minutes on each side for medium. Thinly slice.

3 Cook beans in boiling water until crisp-tender, 5 minutes. Drain; rinse immediately with cold water.

4 Mince remaining garlic clove. Whisk vinegar, oil, garlic, shallot, and remaining salt and pepper in small bowl. Divide mesclun among plates and arrange steak, red peppers, beans, and tomatoes on top. Drizzle with dressing.

ARIES

MARCH 21-APRIL 20

What you need more than anything now is to get together with a group of people who share your tastes, interests and opinions.

LIBRA

SEPT 23-OCT 23

You are so full of self-belief that you want to be challenged so you can show what you can do. No doubt that will happen but don't go looking for a fight.

TAURUS

APRIL 21-MAY 21

You will be looking to treat yourself at every opportunity. And why not? You've done more than enough to deserve it.

SCORPIO

OCT 24-NOV 22

You will be looking for meaning in the world around you. Whether or not you find it remains to be seen, but look inside yourself too.

GEMINI

MAY 22-JUNE 21

You can feel your energy beginning to grow and already you are making plans on how best to use it. The next few weeks will bring many opportunities.

SAGITTARIUS

NOV 23-DEC 21

A loved one may be under the impression that they have offended you, simply because you have been too busy to pay them much attention.

CANCER

JUNE 22-JULY 22

Grab some time for yourself today. Your work schedule may be busy but you need to think about some more personal issues.

CAPRICORN

DEC 22-JAN 20

There may be times today when you lose sight of your long-term goal, simply because there are so many little things to take care of.

LEO

JULY 23-AUG 23

You may have big plans but how practical are they? This is the question you need to ask yourself today.

AQUARIUS

JAN 21-FEB 18

Everyone has a talent, something that they are naturally good at, and the planets are urging you to make better use of the gifts you were born with.

VIRGO

AUG 24-SEPT 22

Positive cosmic developments will fuel your sense of ambition today and over the weekend, but don't get carried away.

PISCES

FEB 19-MARCH 20

The Sun's transit of the domestic angle of your chart over the next few weeks warns you must not let developments on the home front get to you.
